

ANTVERPIA

Antverpia is an expansion of the game Hamburgum. In order to play, the game materials from Hamburgum are needed. On the backside of the board, you can play following to the new rules in the city of Hamburgum as well.

The game rules of Hamburgum are modified in the following way:

Game Material

Game board and donation tokens are replaced by the one's from Antverpia. The donations are stacked in the order as illustrated here (5 Prestige Points on top, followed by the building, ship, citizen, and donation at the very bottom).

Action field "Church"

1. When entering this field, the player has to pay an extra tax of 10 Taler per own citizen in town to the bank.
2. The donation tokens can be taken only in a fixed order from top of the stack.
3. Some donations now have to be paid with units of goods as well. The referring costs are illustrated on the donation tokens.

4. Two donation tokens changed their value:

Each own ship in harbor counts 3 PP instead of 2.

Each citizen in town counts 2 PP regardless of his location (in this expansion, there are no city districts at all).

Example for the choice of donations:

The player chooses the yellow church. Here he may either take the donation on top (ship), or both donations from top (ship and citizen), or all three donations at once.

Have fun! Mac Gerdts and PD-Games
